HOME

Cavendish University Uganda CUU is a top-notch and foremost private University (Voted Best Private University in Uganda 2021/2022 Consumers Choice Award); located in the heart of the Capital, Kampala. The University has consistently maintained a unique standard of excellence which is focused on innovation and transformation. The mission is centered on inspiring students to achieve their goals by reaching their full potential in employment, entrepreneurship, and ethical leadership. The principles of the University are based on strong values of excellence, integrity, responsibility, respect, communication, passion, and innovation.

In line with the innovative value of the University, the Faculty of Law invites the submission of well-researched articles of legal merit for publication in the third volume of the Cavendish University Law Journal (CULJ).

ABOUT

The Editorial Board of the Cavendish University Law Journal (CULJ) is inviting the submission of articles of substantial legal merit. The Journal provides an avenue for academics, Scholars, Jurists, and Legal practitioners to expose and discuss diverse legal issues which are of National and International importance for sustainable development. The Journal hereby invites well-researched articles in any area of law for publication in its third edition. Each manuscript we receive is scrutinized in an extensive peer-review process. The decision to publish an article is based on many considerations, including the significance and timeliness of the topic and the quality of the writing. The article must promote legal education and skill. No article shall be accepted for publication before a first draft has been reviewed.

The Editorial Board of the Cavendish University Law Journal calls for submissions on a rolling basis.

Submissions should follow the Submission Guidelines of the journal and they will be peer-reviewed appropriately.

Papers to be submitted to: secretaryculj@cavendish.ac.ug

Content Requirement

Submissions and Preparation of Articles

The Cavendish University Law Journal (CULJ) Editorial Committee will work diligently to select timely and relevant articles to any area of law based on empirical and theoretical research, case studies, and literature that speak to the journal's reader base.

Length

As a general rule, the Cavendish University Law Journal seeks articles ranging from approximately 6,000- 8,000 words, with some reserves in exceptional cases where the article makes substantial contributions to the field of law.

Originality: The article should be original, unpublished work and not under consideration for publication elsewhere either in hard copy or online. The final decision on publication rests with the Editorial Board after submissions are refereed based on anonymity. Substantial changes proposed by referees/editorial board will only be made in consultation with the author.

Correspondence:

Articles should be submitted online through the journal's email: secretaryculj@cavendish.ac.ug

Any queries regarding submitted articles should be sent to the Editorial Committee through the same email address above.

Anonymity:

You will need to anonymise your article. To do this, please place all identifying information (author names affiliations, university degrees, professional qualifications, and professional or academic status that could identify the author(s)) into a separate file, and upload this alongside the anonymised article file.

Layout: The first page must give: the title of the paper, total word count, and an abstract of no more than 500 words. Pages should be in numbered sequence. Headings should bear the same style and font size. The manuscript should adopt Times New Roman size 12. British spelling of the English language should be used.

Citations

Citations must conform to the OSCOLA Referencing Style on Usage and Style (4th ed.). Failure to conform to the citation style will be a factor that weighs significantly against acceptance of the article.

All submitted manuscripts will be subjected to a rigorous double-blind peer-review process before they are published. Such peer review process will be completed in a period not exceeding 21 days from submitting a manuscript.

The Editorial Board of the Cavendish University Law Journal accepts submissions on a rolling basis. Submissions should follow the following guidelines and be sent to secretaryculj@cavendish.ac.ug

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

1. The Cavendish University Law Journal accepts original and unpublished papers/articles, essays, commentaries, case/judgment reviews, legislative reviews, responses, book reviews, and other forms of manuscripts for publication.
2. Manuscripts should be submitted in OpenOffice, Microsoft Word, or RTF document formats and titled the manuscript's title.
3. Manuscripts should be submitted to the email address: secretaryculj@cavendish.ac.ug under the subject: CULJ Submission, [Author's Name], [Title of Manuscript].

4. Manuscripts should not include the author's name anywhere within the document and any other special mentions including dedications and acknowledgments should be done in a separate document titled 'Special Mentions'. This is to allow for blind editing and review.
5. Manuscripts shall strictly follow the latest version of the Oxford Standard Citation of Legal Authorities (OSCOLA) for citation and references.
6. Manuscripts shall have an abstract of not more than 500 words.
7. Manuscripts shall follow, to the highest possible standard, the greatest care of academic integrity as the journal maintains zero tolerance for plagiarism.
8. Manuscripts shall be rigorously edited and authors shall be taken to agree with this once their manuscript is submitted.
9. All manuscripts shall have a minimum word limit of 5000 and a maximum word limit of 8,000 words including footnotes and appendices.
10. Following the editing and review, authors shall be expected to make the recommended adjustments and corrections to fit within the structure of the journal, which shall be at the discretion of the Editorial Board.

Plagiarism Check

All manuscripts received shall be subjected to plagiarism check and the result must not be higher than the journal's acceptable threshold. Any manuscript with a plagiarism check result that is higher than the acceptable threshold shall not be published even if it receives favourable assessment.

Copyright

The submitted article must contain original work and should not have been published in abridged format or elsewhere. It is a condition of publication in the journal that the license is assigned to Cavendish University Law Journal. This ensures that requests from third parties to reproduce articles are handled efficiently and consistently and will also allow the article to be as widely disseminated as possible. In assigning copyright, authors may use their material in other publications provided Cavendish University Law Journal is acknowledged as the original place of publication, and Cavendish University Law Journal Editorial Committee is notified in writing and in advance. Please note that by submitting an article for publication you confirm that you are the corresponding/submitting author and that Cavendish University Law Journal may retain your email address to communicate with you about the article. You agree to notify Cavendish University Law Journal immediately if your details change. If your article is accepted for publication, the Editorial Committee will contact you with the email address you have used in the submission process. Please note that Cavendish University Law Journal shall not retain copies of rejected articles.

All correspondence concerning articles and other submissions should be addressed to:

Secretary CULJ: secretaryculj@cavendish.ac.ug
